The symbol of the capital's rebirth was an unprecedented post-war re-creation of the Old Town, which in 1980 was put on the UNESCO list of World Heritage Sites, as an example of a nearly complete reconstruction of the original settlement using original town plans and architecture.*

"The original, early Gothic church designed for the Franciscan Order was most probably designed in the form of a Greek (isosceles) cross. It was built in the latter half of the 13th century, mostly thanks to the support of Prince Boleslaus the Modest (Bolesław Wstydlivy), who at that time might have wanted to be buried in the church. His wish was fulfilled after his death in 1279. In the mid-15th century, the church was expanded by extending the nave and the chancel, the latter now ending in a three sided apse. The Chapel of the Passion of Christ was added; it is closely connected with the Archbrotherhood of the Passion of Christ instituted in 1595 and functioning to this day.” Read More

Budapest (Buda)

Complimentary breakfast included.

Explore Buda, which is located on the west side of the river, somewhat hilly and semi-suburban, with winding, narrow streets winding their way up into the hills.

Today's tour will include a visit to the Gothic Matthias Church. The Matthias Church is one of Budapest's most important churches. Many of Hungary's kings were coronated here and the church is home to important tombs and ecclesiastical treasures.

Don't miss checking out the imposing Fisherman's Bastion looming over the Danube.

“Fisherman’s Bastion in Budapest is one of the top Budapest attractions without a doubt. The present day lovely lookout towers / decorative fortification of Fisherman’s Bastion were built in the 19th century to serve as a lookout tower for the best panoramic views in Budapest, Hungary. Needless to say, there used to be real castle walls where now you can take fantastic photos from, but the present day structure has never served as an actual fortification in Buda.” Read More

Experience Buda by strolling through Castle Hill, which is recognized as a World Heritage Site with many must-see attractions, Gothic arches, eighteenth-century Baroque houses and cobblestone streets.

“Castle Hill, a 1km-long limestone plateau towering 170m above the Danube, contains Budapest's most important medieval monuments and museums and is a Unesco World Heritage Site. It is the premier sight in the capital, and with its grand views and so many things to see, you should start here.

Below is a 28km network of caves formed by thermal springs that were supposedly used by the Turks for military purposes, as air-raid shelters during WWII, and as a secret military installation during the Cold War.

The walled area consists of two distinct parts: the Old Town to the north, where commoners lived in the Middle Ages (the current owners of the coveted burgher houses here are anything but 'common'); and the Royal Palace, the original site of the castle built in the 13th century, now housing two important museums.” Read more

Enjoy the afternoon and evening exploring Budapest at leisure. Recommended sites to visit include the Great Market Hall, which is the largest and oldest indoor market in Budapest. Located at the Pest end of Szabadság Bridge, the Great Market Hall combines shopping with sightseeing. A great place to stroll even in cold and rainy weather.

Complimentary breakfast included.

After three days in Budapest, the group will travel from Hungary to Slovakia's ancient capital city of Bratislava.

“Proximity to nature gives Slovakia's capital its strongest flavouring. The Danube winds through town and cycle paths through its verdant flood plain beginning just outside the centre. Meanwhile, erupting a 30-minute walk from the train station are the densely forested Small Carpathians; the trailer to a mountainous extent that runs countrywide, virtually unimpeded by civilisation. Then there's ski runs and vineyards to amble among. The charming – if tiny – old town (starý mesto) is the place to start appreciating Bratislava. Stroll narrow pedestrian streets of pastel 18th-century buildings or sample the myriad sidewalk cafes under the watchful gaze of the city castle, harking back to medieval times. Done with the old? In with the new(er): the city boasts intriguing socialist-era architecture worth checking out and one of Eastern Europe's most spectacular modern art spaces. Contrasts like this are all part of Bratislava's allure.” Read More

Discover 17 centuries worth of history along the cobblestoned, vehicle-free streets of the Bratislava's Old Town with a local guide. During the tour, visit the Old Town Hall, which consisted of a unified complex of buildings from various periods forming the core of the Old Town Hall, an unmissable attraction of the historic district. Its history dates back to the beginnings of the medieval town in the 13th century. The building remains the oldest city hall in the country and one of the oldest stone buildings still standing in Bratislava, with the tower built approximately in 1370.

Don't miss the St. Martin's Cathedral, which has seen the crowning of nearly twenty kings and queens. It is the most sacred and significant Gothic building in Slovakia's capital. Today, the cathedral houses a large Hungarian crown from the 19th century, wonderful sacral Baroque and Gothic artworks, altar of St. John's chapel and several crypts and catacombs.

Prague

Complimentary breakfast included.

Enjoy a full-day of sightseeing in Prague, the capital of the Czech Republic and a city with a uniquely preserved historical center that is part of the UNESCO World Heritage List. The tour today will include the Power Tower, the gateway to the medieval Royal Route and the Municipal House, an impressive Art Nouveau house that was built as a center of Czech cultural and social life at the turn of the 20th century.

“This monumental entrance by which the coronation processions of Czech kings entered the Old Town is one of the most significant monuments of Late Gothic Prague. Completed in 1475, the Powder Tower, which formerly served as a gunpowder store, is still the starting point for the Coronation or Royal Route to Prague Castle.” Read More

“The Municipal House stands on the site of the Royal Court, seat of Bohemia’s kings from 1383 to 1483 (when Vladislav II moved to Prague Castle), which was demolished at the end of the 19th century. Between 1906 and 1912 this magnificent art nouveau palace was built in its place – a lavish joint effort by around

30 leading artists of the day, creating a cultural center that was the architectural climax of the Czech National Revival.” Read More

Continue into Old Town, the oldest and most important square of the historical Prague, to view the Astronomical Clock and iconic Charles Bridge, a stone Gothic Bridge that connects the Old Town and Lesser Town (Malá Strana).

“The medieval astronomical clock adorns the southern wall of the Old Town City Hall in the Old Town Square. It announces every hour with 12 apostles passing by the window above the astronomical dial and with symbolic sculptures moving aside. That makes it a popular tourist attraction.” Read More

Continue exploring Prague by visiting the Old Prague Castle. Founded around 880, the Prague Castle is the largest coherent castle complex in the world, with an area of almost 70,000 m<sup>2</sup>. Visit the St. Vitus Cathedral, one of the best examples of Gothic architecture in Prague and the Golden Lane, a street lined with small picturesque houses that look rather like doll’s homes than people’s homes.

Last but not least, don’t miss the St. George's Basilica, Prague’s second older church and the oldest surviving church building within Prague Castle. Considered to be one of the city’s most beautiful Romanesque remains, it was founded by Prince Vratislav (915-921) in 920. ### INDEPENDENT DINNER

Overnight at Hilton Hotel Old Town \(5-Star\) Hotel in Prague.

Complimentary breakfast included.

Start your day with a 5-hour excursion to Karlštejn Castle. Built between 1348 and 1355 by Charles IV, the castle became a place for safekeeping of the Czech coronation jewels at the outbreak of the Hussite wars.

“Karlštejn was reconstructed in the Late Gothic style after 1480 and in Renaissance style in the last quarter of the 16th century. Its present appearance is the result of the last reconstruction, which was carried out in the purist Neo-Gothic style by architect Josef Mocker at the end of the 19th century. The original step-like order of building is very impressive - you walk up from the well tower and the Burgrave's palace located as the lowest up to the majestic five-floored Imperial palace and further up toward the Marian tower. The monumental 60 m high and separately fortified Great tower stands at the top of the headland.” Read More
